Responses to previous topics:

No one responded to topic #4, regarding playing a stringed instrument. Does dental floss count?

This week's topics:

1. What are words that you used in high school that are no longer "popular"? Snazzy?
2. What was in space before the "Big Bang"? Was there "space"?
3. Have you had any ESP experiences?
See: <http://www.espresearch.com/dreamtelepathy/> if you don't know what ESP is.
Stan Krippner (mentioned in the link above) is a friend of the editor.
4. Got a kid or grand-kid in the news? Send a link or info.
5. Have you ever encountered a ghost?
6. Have you ever experienced the presence of a poltergeist?
7. You hate both the presidential candidates, but you're going to vote anyway - or not?
8. At what age did you realize that you were no longer young?

For instance, the editor was playing volleyball at age 51 when he went up to spike a ball, came down hard and a "bolt of electricity" shot up and down his spine. He quit playing.

9. Clowns are in the news. Were you ever a clown?

10. Anything else you'd care to write about.

1. "Tasty" was used as a synonym for cool or neat. "Couple three" was used instead of few, or several. "Candyass" was used by Buck Nystrom and Larry Scheibach to describe football players who couldn't play up to their size. "Cats" was synonymous with guys and "Chicks" were girls. "Copasetic" described what is now "all good" "Groovy" meant pleasant and The Mindbenders put it in a song title in 64.

2.. The theory is that we live in an expanding universe that began with a bang 14 billion years ago. If the universe expands at the speed of light then it has a radius of  $8.22 \times 10^{22}$  or 82 sextillion miles. This is 14% of the Avogadro constant of  $6.022 \times 10^{23}$  which is the number of atoms or molecules in a mole of any respective element or chemical compound.

This would seem to indicate that all space was compressed into a singularity held together by gravity, i.e. the original black hole (OBH).

8. Though I will hit 3 score and 10 as suggested in Psalm 90:10 as a life limit, I refuse to concede to age, continuing to play golf and keep in shape by exercise and strength training and work. If you quit, you die.

1. Words used in high school RIGHT ON , HOW'S TRICKS, H-E DOUBLE HOCKEY STICKS 2. Nothing was in space before the "BIG BANG" as God created heaven and earth. 4. My 15 year old grandson is on the varsity football team as the kicker for Seymour WI high school and I see his name in the paper and am a very proud grandma.

5. Daughter, Naomi Blohm, is an agricultural commodities broker who appears monthly on three different agricultural TV programs, Market to Market, US Farm Report, and Orion Samuelson's National Farm Report.

6. I'm going to hold my nose and vote for Trump. The last 8 years have been a disaster for the country with more out of work, on foodstamps, etc. Matter of fact, $8 trillion that has been added to the debt since "he" took office. Where did the money go?

To the unemployed for one - he has made it "uneconomical" for those out of work to seek work, since they're far better off sitting at home on the government's (our) dime. Case in point, I know that a facility here in Cambridge is currently housing 15 Mexicans (probably illegal) while they repair roofs in the Middleton area after the hail storm last month. Maybe Americans wouldn't take the jobs? I don't know. Probably wouldn't work for the wages the roofer is paying! And don't get me started on foreign policy and the military. Obamacare is going to die shortly - by design - and the Dems will then, once again, propose "single-payer" health care - while folks on Medicare have to have supplemental insurance just to get into a doctor's door. What a mess!!!!!!!
