Hobbies Next In Series Of Assembly Programs

At 9:25 on Wednesday, February 11, if this mumps seige permits, there will be an assembly program on hobbies. The program was to be held last Wednesday, since several members participating in it were overtaken by the mumps, it was necessary to substitute the defense program in its place. Those who were to be on the program were: Jerry Rowland, Mary Bennet, Mary Warsinski, and Rita King.

A series of these hobbies programs has been held in the field house during the last two years. Some of them were: stamps as a hobby, model airplanes, hunting, and skiing. The subject of Wednesday's assembly will be Horses as a Hobby.

A Terrrium Experiment By The Junior High Science Class

About the middle of October we went to the stone quarry and got some moss and small plants. We planted them in a one gallon jar. In this jar we put some sand, on top of the sand we put dirt, then moss, and between the moss the small plants. We had a strawberry plant and several plantin plant. We watered them well and closed the jar airtight and didn't open it again until January 29, 1942. This was a period of three months. The plants could live all this time in the airtight container because the water they gave off was not lost, but stayed in the jar so the plants kept using the same water

NATIONAL DEFENSE

It's 'all out' for American National defense. Let's not falter or tarry but at once commence. To do our 'all out' best by this Blessed land.

So join with your neighbor and march hand in hand. To defend to the limit for our common good This U.S.A. for which the Stars and Stripes always stood.

We Want Snapshots

Mr. Bird reports that thirty per cent of the annual has been sent to the printers but that there is still lots of work to be done. He also states that any snapshots that are suitable for use in the annual will be greatly appreciated.

nan, Maxine Nelson, Betsy Simon, and Lillian Anderson.

The fact that the formal is to be held on February 14 might lead you to expect to see a Field House full of hearts. For you girls who have to buy the tickets the price is 75 cents a couple. Spectators will be admitted for 15 cents so come one, come all on February 14 and dance to music by the Castillians.

over and over again. They had enough air to live with because in the day time the plants used carbon dioxide and gave off oxygen and at night they gave off carbon dioxide. The plants started to die because they grew so large that there wasn't enough space for them to live.

Black-Bird Gives Patriotic Assembly

At 9:25 Wednesday morning, the students of this school assembled in the field house for a patriotic Assembly Program. During the course of this program the students and faculty sang patriotic songs, and gave the pledge to the American flag. The chief speaker was a veteran of the first World war and the purpose of his speech was to rouse the spirit of the students to be patriotic, to love their country more, and to encourage them to buy defense savings stamps and bonds.

So come on, all you citizens of Lincoln and do your hare. Prove your loyalty to your country by buying stamps and bonds today. They are on sale at the book room window.

Nutritions For Defense But Not One Crumb For Trudell

Miss Flanagan has 24 girls in her second period class who are working on a unit on serving luncheons.

The Junior High school classes are writing essays on "Nutritions and defense." A prize will be given to the boy and girl writing the best essay.

Nineteen boys signed up for foods and are learning to prepare the different cuts of meat. This class is a great success except Howard Trudell just can't get enough to eat.

DEBATERS WIN THREE LOSE THREE AT POINT

Those Sophomors who took part in the program were: Dean Plzak, Bob Cooper, George Schmidt, Edward Thronberg, Clifford Shearier, Barbara Johns, Bab Gross, Jane Tess, Julie Nordstrom, Mary Huffman, Burton Grote, John Sayles, Henry Acott, and Don Rodeghier.

KUTTINGS

The form of the Central girl is clothed in a most distinctive manner. Here will be recorded for posterity the average costume of the average high school girl. I shall begin at the top, and work down.

First, comes the hair. The "crowning glory" as it is sometimes called is usually worn long and loosely curled. In damp weather it speedily uncurls, sagging into the weary eyes and straggling down her back, making the girl look like a sheep-dog just returning from an invigorating dip in a near-by creek.

There is, of course, one method of protecting the hair from the elements, the kerchief. These are usually large enough to adequately cover a banquet table set for a dozen-or-so people and are tied rakishly under the chin. Unfortunately, there are very few that can wear these effectively, they make most of us look like a picture in the National Geographic captioned, "Russian Woman Take the Place of Men in the Fields."

Continuing on down we come to the sweater and skirt. The sweater is usually several sizes too large. Sometimes it is even a case of "who's supporting who." For some unknown reason, the cuffs are folded daintily in half, and then the sleeve is shoved to a position two and two-thirds inches below the elbow.

Adorning these woolen puppets are miscellaneous articles of jewelry. The latest seems to be long beads. Some of the happy harpies consider is social suicide not to have a pair of these, but that is an extreme opinion. These "dowager droops" are really long, and unless part of the slack is taken up in a series of bowline, sheepshank, and fisherman's knots, the wearer becomes hopelessly entangled in the coils.

And now, the skirts. These display the dimpled knees, and because of the length of the sweaters, very little of them can be seen. However, it is safe to state that at least six inches of skirt shows. Most skirts are bought at a civilized length, but after the top has been turned over several times, the skirt takes on a very altered appearance. It is, as has been stated very short, and it usually acquires some of the characteristics of a dirndl. This, combined with pleats is very fetching, to say the least.

Finally, we come to the articles that cradle the exquisite feet of the Central girl, saddle shoes. If you dare approach your pair with some cleaner, you may as well resign yourself to being black-listed. Saddle shoes are considered at their peak when they have acquired a state of filth closely resembling the Mississippi after a rain storm. The toes curve

GUESS WHO?

A girl who likes to dance, is rather short and has red hair. Her favorite place is Sherry, and her favorite subject is Latin. She likes black Fords and having pictures taken; is very talkative. She is most commonly known as "Red"

*****

A boy who is short, dark, and handsome. Has dark, wavy, hair, and is now a senior. Always has a bad cold. Has many girlfriends but he likes Monica the best. He likes to go buck hunting.

*****

A serious little freshman, who is very shy and does not like girls. He likes malted milks and candy. Likes sports, and his favorite baseball team is the Chicago Cubs. His newest name is Bing, but was formerly known as "Babe".

At this time more than 60% of Lincoln 7-8 are proud possessors of defense stamps books -- many already invested their savings in Defense bonds. ## CLUB

The Lincoln Junior High has organized a model airplane club under the direction of Mr. McMillen. The meetings are held nights after school. ### Defense Stamps:

We can all help, even tho we can't fight, to defend our good old United States. I'm sure you've heard how-defence saving stamps. Now that we have the opportunity here in our own school to purchase defense stamps (Miss Lynn sells them) we should all take advantage of it. Every stamp you buy, you invest in one of Uncle Sam's Airplanes or ships. This is what we can do to help America win this battle that she is now confronted by. Lets all do our part and invest our quarters and dimes with Uncle Sam and America. Let's all remember that "All we give will be used to live in the Yankee way."

Keep off the grass, (or snow as the case may be).

Don't cut the corners, walking or on bikes. The sidewalks were made to walk on. If one person cuts corners everyone is going to and soon a path is made. This spoils the beauty of the campus. Let's keep our campus looking as nice as it always has by using the sidewalks. We can all do this if we keep in mind "The sidewalk was made for walking on, not the lawn."

ALMA MATER - - -

Lincoln High School has not only a beautiful melody for it's Alma Mater, but also one full of meaning. As you sound each word let your mind expand enough to recall how often it has been sung to inspire Lincolmites on to victory - how often the rafters have rung with "Up with the red and white," and how often the school days ended with that familiar tune. Yet do you as an individual show proper respect for their Alma mater? To do so, be up on your toes as soon as the music begins, and sing. Don't be afraid to lift your hand for the Alma mater that we ll love.

B-O-W-L-I-N-G

Bowling has progressed very well so far this year. Starting next week, the girls with the highest scores will be captains, and will have separate teams. Those having the highest scores in the last game, were as follows:

Elaine Wittenberg, Bette Alloway, Helen Kumm, Jacqueline Kuenn, Beite Kesler, Fayette Atwood, Beverley Christianson, Bette Berrand, Jean Abel, Marge Habeck.

The averages of the highest bowlers will determine who shall be the captains.

G. A. A. AWARDS

Rhineland	6	2	.750
Stevens Point	5	3	.625

Wisconsin Rapids	3	4	.429
Tomahawk	3	5	.375
Nekoosa	2	7	.222
Merrill	0	1	.000

Games this week are: Point at Rapids, Nekoosa at Tomahawk, Antigo at Rhineland, Wausau at Merrill.

Nekoosa Game and Conference Standings

Last Saturday Rapids played Nekoosa at Nekoosa and scored a victory of 34 to 20 this large score was not because Nekoosa did not put up a real battle, but, because the Raiders had a large advantage of weight and height.

McCarthy was the "whole show" for Nekoosa, getting nine points and playing a great floor game. Bill Gross with his high scoring and Vet Holmes with his excellent "setting up" showed the way to victory for the Rapids.

We started out by use of Bill Gross's newly discovered shooting eye. By the end of the first quarter we were ahead by a score of nine to four. From this point on the Redmen widened the gap and when the end of the first half arrived, the score stood at 18 to 9 in favor of the Rapids. Until the last quarter, we scored 2 points to every one that Nekoosa chalked up.

In the last quarter of the game

Fourth Warders To Hit Rosin Trail

Dem bums from da bloody fort (4th) ward are on the warpath again. Of course it could be none other than John Pillow cushion Reeves, Bob Bonecrusher Reeves, Jim Sandbag Reddick and Clifford Musclebound Young. These four boxers (?) are going to compete for the 164 pound title in Lincoln High's intramural boxing program. Since all of them are from the 4th ward you can readily see they will also be scrapping for the unofficial title from that particularly sanguine section of the city. Since Pillow cushion is the only member of the quartet who has ever received instruction in the manly art of fisticuffs, he is the favorite. However, from the size

Pointers Hoping For Clean Sweep Doomed To Disappointment

NOTICE

There will be no intramural boxing tournament here this year. After a three week registration period in which there was little activity shown, the Athletic Department decided to cancel the event. Undoubtedly the Cancellation of the Golden Gloves Tournament which served as a stimulus to boxing in this area, contributed a great deal to this apathy.

the scoring slowed up somewhat, with Nekoosa getting three free throws and one field goal. The Klandrud five got 2 field goals and 2 free throws.

The fellows who scored for Rapids are the following: (The numbers refer to total points.) Holmes 6, Benkowski 2, Rodeghier 3, Seward 1, Bathke 4, and Gross 9.

The Nekoosa scores are: Buchanan 3, Michels 2, Buhler 1. McCarthy 9, and Frayier 3.

MEET THE COACH

WIS. VALLEY COACHES RHINELANDER

Coach R. E. LEKSELL is a native of Ironwood, Michigan. He attended the University of Minnesota where he majored in Phi. Ed. He first taught in Staples, Minnesota. Later he moved to Rhineland where his basketball teams in the past 6 years have won 5 Wisconsin Valley Championships and one state Championship.

He also coaches football, and usually turns out a pretty fair team. Coach Leksell's grid squad also copped one title in the past six years.

His favorite sport is trout fishing but hunting runs a close second.

of Pa Young's beefsteak bill, or the density per cubic centimeter of Bonecrusher's head, or the inside dope which your lowly reporter has been able to unearth concerning the weight of Reddick's brass Knuckles which he always wears inside his gloves, it really is anybody's fight. Stick up dem dukes and let's see who's a Jap.

When the Stevens Point basketballers engage the Red Raiders tonight there promises to be another traditional Point—Rapids scrap.

The Rebholzmen will be striving to obtain a clean sweep over us this year, having beaten us in football and one basketball game already. On our part will be an endeavor to avenge these defeats.

The Pointers have lost their center, Smith, who has a broken elbow. However, this does not seem to handicap them to very great degree, because when they beat Marshfield 37-21 last week Krueger, filling the pivot spot, scored 13 points.

We will, of course, have an advantage in playing on our own floor, and we know our boys will do their best out there tonight. So let's all get out and see a great basketball game.

About the most critical of tonight's other games is the Antigo Rhineland clash, in that it will decide which of these teams is to occupy second place. They are now tied with six wins and two losses each.

Frosh Squad Showing Unusual Strength

Three games remain on the docket for the LHS freshman basketball team - Point, Port Edwards and Milladore. To date they have played two games, losing to Point 18-19 without the services of Jack Gill and winning from the Port B squad 30-26.

The Coaches claim that this is one of the best frosh cage squads in years. The boys have more size, speed potential scorers, and as a whole better ball handlers. Each Monday and Thursday you may find the boys out there hitting the hoop. It looks from here as though 1944 and 45 should be banner years for Old LHS.

The following are on the squad: forwards; Fiegel, Gill, Bilmeier, Kuehl, Smits, Ellis. Centers; John, Sowastka, Peterson Yeager. Guards; Murgatroyd, Johnson, Godin, Nelson.

The trouble with getting married on a shoe string is that too many people get tripped up on it.

COMMERCIAL CLUB

The commercial club which was organized in 1939 is one of the younger organizations in Lincoln High School. The club has a three fold purpose: (1) to acquaint the members of the clb with bus'ness men and businesswomen of the community, (2) to engage in social activities (3) to give the members a working knowledge of business methods.

To carry out the first purpose
 the club has had many speakers in the past, including employers of the community and a representative of the employment agency. The subjects brought up by the speakers are relative to what opportunities for jobs for commercial course graduates there are,
 what is expected of the student when on the job, and what ways a student can best be prepared to meet these requirements.

The Commercial club has hikes and parties to give it's members an opportunity to play together
 as well as work.

Field trips are taken to show the members just how the various duties and routine work of theogice employees are carried out.

To carry on the work necessated by the three-fold plan of the club, committees are appointed.
 The committees work under such names as; Program Committee, Field Trip Committee, Social Committee, and Sick Committee.

The Club, sponsored by Mr.
 Jacobsen, has as members those students in the commercial course who are interested in going into commercial work.

The officers of the club for this are: President, Laura Luth; Vice President, Norbert Hanneman;
 Treasurer, Elaine Nietzel; Secretary, Jane Staniforth; Sargent at Arms, David Rowland.

Junior Bakes A Cake, or, Lets Eat
 At A Resturant
 by MIKE KUBISIAK

Junior wanted to make and bake a cake Saturday, and who were we to stop Junior, once he got wound up? Well it started off all right, but then again I wonder...

Junior went to the cupboard and dragged out the flour—five pounds of it! This he immediately tried to put into a kettle that held only four pounds. But even this could'nt discourage Junior.
 —He took the potato-masher and tried pounding the flour into the kettle. He pushed the bottom out of the kettle, broke the sides, mangled the potato-masher beyond recognition, and made the flour fly in every direction.

By this time it was so cloudy in the kitchen that Junior was afraid he would be asphyxiated. The flour was rolling in great clouds from where he was beaing it. A layer an inch thick was on the floor, so Junior opened the door.

 When he did, great geysers of billowing white flour sprang from the door into the cool clear air, it was not clear lng. Some black crows were flying over when it happened.
 — They were not white crows long.
 Soon bells began to ring and a siren wailed. The fire department came—thinking it was a four-bell alarm. Seven contractors asked us when we were going to fix the busted steam line. Three men from an exterminating company wanted to know if we had a new chemical for killing moths.
 The Army sent several dignitaries asking if we had a new type of camouflauge.

But Junior wasn't discouraged:
 he sa'd he would make a cake with out flour. —Mother thought different; Junior bought a cake and is eating it and liking it.
