Interesting article about a Wausau young man "living off the land".

When JFK was shot I was at Lincoln High School in a Math class Algebra two I think. I would think all 65ers were in school at Lincoln. After the shock wore off I remember wondering if Deer Season would be cancelled or if school would be cancelled on Monday.. School was cancelled and we spent more time hunting but made sure we checked the old black and white tv for any updates

Lenore (Crothers) Haferman (65) lhaferman@tznet.com sends this:

I don't normally send "spam", but a friend forwarded this to me and I thought you might enjoy it too.

For all you right brain/left brain people out there... How weird is this... While sitting at your desk make clockwise circles with your right foot. While doing this, draw the number "6" in the air with your right hand. What direction is your foot going now?

This Reporter's Behind the Scenes Look at the War

The magnitude of the Iraqi war is better reflected in this stat from a West Point list serve: "Over 1,200 have been treated at Walter Reed so far." I might add that only the most severely wounded end up at Walter Reed. How many others wounded and treated elsewhere? I don't know. The sad news is that the West Point grad organization is making a call for items to distribute to these soldiers, things like underwear, bras other basics.

News from my trip to Colorado Springs to check up on soldier son's house. There the locals are collecting food and money to help families left behind as their soldier(s) left for Iraq. The town which in early April when I last visited was a boom town, is now more like a ghost town. For rent signs everywhere. I was told it's primarily because of the military families who returned home to live with parents while their soldier is deployed.

If it doesn't feel like war is on in your neck of the woods, visit a town near a military base where large numbers of soldiers have recently deployed to Iraq, Afghanistan, Bosnia, Kosovo. People there talk about it even in the grocery stores. And many have two or three members out there at the same time. A Colorado father and son ran into each other in Baghdad. Father recognized his son just in time as he was marching by. Son had lost so much weight dad wasn't sure if it was him. All I know is, I certainly wouldn't want to be in that mother's shoes.

Carey Winegarden and his girlfriend, Kim, stopped by for dinner at the Editor's home last Tuesday night.

Had a great time reminiscing about the "good old days". Sure wish Carey would write up all those memories for the newsletter! Carey stopped by the Ridges on Monday and made a reservation for the 40th reunion. He reserved the "West Room" with a capacity of 250 people. If half of the LHS 65 readers of the newsletter show up it will be close to full.

Judy, Carey & Kim

Yesterday, Thursday, Judy and I met Terry Stake at the "Lunch on the River". He's got a boat to sell if anyone's interested.

Think he said it was a 16 footer with a 40hp Merc.

Terry

The Editor asked Terry about his mother-in-law, Carol Bean, and Terry got on his cell-phone and soon his wife and mother-in-law joined us at the park. Carol Bean was the Credit Manager at Montgomery Ward in the Rapids for a very long time. She was there when the Editor was the Asst. Mgr. 1969-1971.

Carol Bean - 90 years young.
