ERRATA

I noticed that I said Billy and I called norm aint "net norm"

I meant to say neat norm, as to rhyme with neat she

There seemed to be more she about norm than neat. He kept saying neat over and over to describe everything from navel lint to nagasaki

You may remember that nn was married to Kathy Engel, Dave's sister until she died in 90 or 91 from a massive stroke. Guess norm was not an expert in life saving.

CCH--

I'll send you some Waugh. He and Celine are two of my favorite writers. Stendhal is still the best, and as a lawyer you should read the Red and the Black, although I prefer the Charterhouse of Parma. I looked up griski and nitwit in the lawyer review and it said, "see shysters." Thanks for the information on Nick. Nothing good here. I'll look over my books and see if I can't find some interesting books to send. I have almost all Waugh and Celine's biographies.

If you hear from Bill tell him Howdy.

Net Norm, as Billy and I used to call him is a hs mucky muck, and self-proclaimed expert on nearly everything. The lack of borders has created an equilibrium. Personally think it is like a kid who has never seen so much a a picture in one of GW's old Playboys to be suddenly thrust inside a whorehouse with the madam sucking his cock and her minions ministering to the his every wish. It is so overwhelming for the kid that he can't decide of which to partake, so he does nothing for awhile. Perhaps with equilibrium will come a small degree of assimilation into our culture. Rather than blowing themselves up in plane bombs, they will opt for the non-suicidal variety strapped to dogs, detonating them remotely in out of the way places like Nampa, Idaho; Aiken, South Carolina; and Panguitch Utah. That will create more fear in the hearts of America than a hundred 911s which have already become the focus of denialists, revisionists, and leninists idiots.

Nick's address at the law firm is:

Brazeau, Wefel, Kryshak and Nettesheim, LLP

I have only a slight memory of Waugh from freshman (LHS) English. Perhaps it was from brief exposure to The Loved One, exposing California undertakers who may have reminded him of movie producers when they made their entreaty to him to accept their remake of Brideshead Revisited

I am not worthy of any of BCs books.
We need Nietzsche not nietnorm

Is'nt norton arndt a big squid with homeland surrender? the way things are now those inside the country are a bigger threat than those out side. Do you have any address for Nick, I came across a couple of books that had belonged to BC. (I would be happy to send you Nietzsche's the Genealogy of Morals.) Nick can have the copies of Schopenhauer and Hume. I may be buried with the Antichrist. Have you read any Evelyn Waugh (besides Brideshead)? SS

For some reason, the picture gets removed/truncated/abolished/gassed/liquidated by the time it gets to me. viz probably will have the rapids branch of the komitet gosudarstvennoi bezopasnosti pay us respective visits in madison and Atlanta. how does viz know/remember what fiddle castoff looked like in the 60s. Maybe he was working with che guevara in cuba and south america. Maybe he grew cocaine at his dog food plant in cambridge

His claim that the "stans" were hard is good cover for his coming denial of same. The Department of Homeland Surrender as I call it may be interested in taking viz in. They haven't the balls to go after the ragheads.

Lincoln High Newsletter
Memories of then! News of now!

The Editor and Judy met with Chuck Hetze (65) and his wife at the Sportsman's Bar in the Rapids for lunch.

Chuck was on vacation in Wisconsin and will return to Fairbanks, AK.

Here's a pic from the meeting.

Editor, Judy, Chuck Hetze - Ed note: Chuck has a striking resemblance to Fidel Castro back in the 60's.

GEOGRAPHY QUIZ

Since the Middle East has been in the news for a long time it occurred to me how little we really knew about it. So here is a test.
It is only a geography test.

However It's amazing how little we truly know about the area that has been in the headlines for very so long...

Editor got about 85% correct on the first try. The "stan" countries were really hard as was western Africa south of the Mediterranean countries.
